

The Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

Basically I feel that we are all being charged enough already for phone services. Land lines have especially become outrageous in cost and most of us are not able to get away from having a land line. Wireless phones are then used to help supplement phone needs and can usually be at a cheaper cost than the typical land line service. Please do not allow gouging of the wireless phone service now as well.

Sincerely,

Brenda Kocian
8524 Kings Road
Greenleaf, Wisconsin 54126-9462